ELECTORAL TICKET.

FOR THE STATE AT LARGE,

Thomas L. Jones, of Campbell,

A. E. Rutherford, of Jefferson,

and others.

James D. White, of Ballard,

—A. T. Craycer, of Davies,

John W. Tamm, of Hopkinsville,

John John Bolger, Greenbacker,

and others.

Why is it that your paragraph does not mention Tarver's polit' ? Don't you class him as a Democrat?

—Col. Turner—

We do class Col. Turner as a Democrat. The old fashioned school

The differences between the Turner and the convention democrats of this District are well understood.

The convention democrats planned several upon the necessity of party organization, and in previous conventions the same rule had been adopted through resolutions.

On the other side, Turner and his opponents claimed that they were in favor of party organization whenever necessary, but asked that the organization be effected through primary elections and that this primary organization be held on some regular election day.

The state of the two elements joined together, and the result was that W. C. Owen, of Scott,

John G. Gandy, of Hopkinsville,

John F. L. Cleveland, of Bracken,

and others.

Political Speaking.

James D. White, Greenbacker,

Elector for the First District, will address the people of the District as follows:

Clinton, Hickman County, Monday, Sep-tember 27th.

Hickman, Fulton County, Tuesday, Sep-tember 28th.

Fulton Station, Fallop County, Wednes-day, Sep-tember 29th.

Murray, Calloway County, Thursday, Sep-tember 30th.

And now for Indiana.

The elections next following are in Georgia, Indiana, Ohio and West Vir-ginia.

Gov. Wagner, of Tennessee, has left off discussions with his Democ-rat opposite, Wilson, and now meets the Republicans candidate. Just right

John J. D. White, of the H. R. and English Elector for this District, is to speak in Hickman on next Tues-day.

We suppose the Republican

Elector, Mr. Anderson, will also be here.

The Congressional race in this dis-trict draws its slim length along without any special excitement. The tem-per of the times seems to agree to a free race, and the devil take the hind-most man and the fervent one two as to that.

If the accounts from Maine be true

Mr. Blaik has a pretty hard trouble to outlast of course. A mass of evidence has been accumulated to show his connection with the various cases of bil-ho-ry, and it will be carried before Congress at its next session. The trial there will be very difficult, but before a packed committee of the Maine

Legislature.

All the strength of the Republican party will be concentrated in Indiana and the State will be saluted to buy a victory in that State. The last and only hope is to buy, stat. It will be unable to do either.

The Democrats are fully alive to the importance of crushing them out forever, and Indiana is a good place to start a new life.
